DEDICATION

The 1990-1991 Proctorian staff dedicates this year's yearbook to the soldiers of Alpha Company, Third Battalion, 67th Armored Regiment of the 1st (Tiger) Brigade, from Fort Hood, Texas. Through their efforts and those of many other Allied soldiers, we were able to achieve victory in the Persian Gulf war. Proctor High School and America are proud of them!

SCHOOL LIFE

The War In The Gulf

The war in the Middle East which officially began on January fifteenth, 1991 (United States time) has become the focal point of our nation's thoughts and news broadcasts. As allied troops defend Kuwait, Israel, and Saudi Arabia from Saddam Hussein's attacks, people at home stay informed through information that pours into various television and radio stations. The majority opinion in the U.S. seems to be that we should not be involved in this war, but as long as our troops are there we should support them. Yellow ribbons and U.S. flags fly everywhere as symbols of this support.

Gregory Valloch, a 1979 graduate of Proctor High School, is now the captain of a maneuver brigade in Saudi Arabia called Alpha Company. He has asked our students to "adopt" his company of fifty-five soldiers by writing letters and sending packages to them. He tells us that mail from home is a big morale booster. Second Lieutenant "Mac" Duncan writes, "Thank you for your letter. We really appreciate the support we get from back home."

Post Script: On Sunday, March third, 1991, an official cease-fire in the Persian Gulf was declared. Thousands of Iraqi soldiers had eagerly surrendered, and much Iraqi equipment was destroyed. Saddam's troops in Kuwait City pulled out first, and the rest in Saudi Arabia quickly retreated into Iraq.

The cease-fire still holds, and many American troops have already returned home.

Nick

Ignacio de la Torre Muñoz de Morales, better known here as "Nick," was Proctor's exchange student this year. Nick flew here from Madrid, Spain and joined our Junior class. He lived with the Chuse's and later the Rafter's.

Nick is an ambitious math and physics student who enjoys using computers, dancing, and hanging out with friends. For the second half of the year he is attending a school in Monticello, New York. We wish him the best of luck.

Junior High Enrichment

Winter

The 1991 Winter Carnival was a great success and a lot of fun. The day began with a delicious breakfast put on by the sophomores. Later, in the gym, the seniors made their annual spirit run. There were many different events, including softball, an obstacle course, a relay, ice hockey, volleyball, ping pong, trivia, and the Pepsi Challenge basket shooting. A new game, Scattergories, was also enjoyed. The junior class provided a lunch of grinders and chips. The day ended with a dance put on by the seniors. At this dance the winners of the Winter Carnival were announced. The eighth grade placed first, the eleventh grade second, and the ninth grade third.

Seventeen U.S. History students traveled to New York City during winter vacation. Among the sites they visited were the United Nations, Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island Immigration Park and Museum, and the Empire State Building. One evening they went to the theatre and half the group saw "Cats" and the other saw "Fiddler on the Roof". On another evening students went to Madison Square Garden to see Sr. John's University defeat Notre Dame in a close game. They ended the evening at the Hard Rock Cafe. On the trip home students visited the Franklin D. Roosevelt home and museum and the Vanderbilt Mansion in Hyde Park, New York. Faculty chaperones included Mrs. Burke, Mrs. May and Mrs. Sherman.

This year's Junior High was very active in the school and community. They helped with Community Service Day and cleaned up the town. They also participated in a two-week interdisciplinary unit centered around recreation. Some Junior High students also became members of the Math Counts team. As a whole, the Junior High formed its own student government and an energetic soccer team. Kari Barrett, the president of the group, led the class through a successful year.

The Learners with Special Needs class was active in the school and community. This year they implemented a recycling program at the high school. A student from the class collected recyclable paper weekly. Another student kept the vending machines filled. Integration in music and industrial arts class was very enjoyable and rewarding. The Learners with Special Needs would like to thank the Grace Congregational Church, Devoe Paint Store, McNeil and Reedy, Foley's, The Spa, the Vermont Office of Aging, and the Holiday Inn for welcoming their students and helping them acquire new skills.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, advised by Mr. MacGowan, was very active during the 90-91 school year. In October they held a successful Halloween dance. Students from all classes attended and many wore costumes. The Junior High was not a part of this year's Student Council, but had their own Student Government organization. Front: (L to R), Joe Popailo, Chris Izzo-pres., Thera McGee, Shannon Jaquith, Ryan Rafter, ROW 2, Erin McGann, Julie Wenta, Lisa Carrara, Mica Franklin, Becky Murdock, BACK, Krista Hasert, Dave MacGowan-adv., Joe Kearney.

GIRLS

TATE

Amy Drinwater and Rebecca Chuse attended Girls' State at Vermont College in Montpelier last summer. The students toured the Capitol and listened to many speakers as they addressed issues that concerned Vermont. The participants were also able to run for many offices. Rebecca Chuse ran for Governor.

BOYS

TATE

This year's delegates to Boys' State were Ron Henderson and Kobbe Franklin. Both learned about the many phases of government and had a very good time. A trip to the State Capitol was the highlight of their stay at Norwich University.

WRITING CLUB

The Writing Club, advised by Mrs. Vita, was a new activity started this year. The club met many times during the year and the students learned about various communication techniques. Students wrote stories and poems and shared them with the other members of the club. The club also planned a skit/commercial to be taped on the school's camcorder.

Peer Leadership, advised by Mrs. Clark, sees its biggest group yet in the '90-'91 school year. Their goal is to help others and promote healthy lifestyles in the school. The major project is the Big Friends/Little Friends program. This is a twelve week program being carried out with the third and fourth graders at PES.

G.M.T.I.

Green Mountain Teenage Institute is an intensive week long program. It teaches better drug and alcohol awareness while aiding students in dealing with such issues as suicide, self-esteem, pregnancy, and relationships. The group sends up to three people each year and is a very worthwhile self discovery program.

SPORTS

Boys' Soccer

The Phantom Boy's Soccer Team, coached by Rob Bliss, had a very good season with 7-8 record. The team fought to a 1-0 loss against Rochester in the quarter finals. Two players, Jeff Powers and Kobbe Franklin, were selected to the MVL team. Good luck to next season's team and its many returning players.

"JUST FOR TODAY"
Words & Music by Carl Strommen

Now on the wings of a song, in the glow of early morning light,
and so another day shall break,
another dawn awake again.

Now is the hush of a song carried high, high above the hill,
a song of love and harmony, of miracles I see ev'ryday.

And now is the hour, now is the time,
now I will never pass this way again.

Just for today, let it all begin today,
let the love light in;
today is the first day of your life.

Just for today, catch a rising star today,
and be all you are; today will never pass this way again.

And on the wings of a song, in the hush of early morning light, a song of love and harmony,
of miracles I see ev'ry day.

And now is the hour, now is the time,
now will never pass this way again.

Today, today, just for today, let it all begin today,
let the love light in; today is the first day of your life.

Just for today, catch a rising star today,
and be all you are; today will never pass this way again.

Just for today, let it all begin today,
let the love light in; today is the first day of your life.

Just for today, catch a rising star today,
and be all you are; today will never pass this way again.

Just for today, let it all begin today,
let the love light in; today is the first day of your life.

Just for today, catch a rising star today,
and be all you are; today will never pass this way again.
